What we require in the senseof a free trade is that we may be allowed to sell and buy any goods just in the same manner as the Chinese did in any of the treaty ports according to one's wish. The records of the British Consulate at Foochew have a reference to this subject, as Mr. Hugh Fraser, while Charge d'Affaires of the British Legation at Peking,

A fine display of matting has been sent by Tuck Lee, who has also provided a very handsome show-house with a conical roof, for its proper bestowal. Mr. F. D. Sassoon has kindly lent a magnificent specimen of carved blackwood in the form of a table, and this is supplemented by some very handsomely carved blackwood furniture, exhibited by Mr. W. R. Loxley. The Carpenters' Guild have sent a model of a 9-tiered pagoda, being the finest on the Canton River: adjacent to the pagoda being a model of a monastery. - We have not space to give a detailed description of the many other interesting exhibits which help to make up a very successful display, but must content ourselves with a passing mention of the following exhibits:-Specimens of sail-making and canvas, by W. Dolan; a steam-launch engine, by the Dock Company; sugar, by the China Sugar Rofla-ing Company; silk, by Arnhold, Karberg and Company; Chinese pigments, with brushes, &co., by J. B. When used to excess all articles of consumption, even the most barmless, become injurious. In another column we reproduce a paragraph from the Straits Times recording the death of a young Frenchman, said to have resulted from excessive opium smoking. The particulars given are meagre, but assuming death to have been directly caused by opinin smoking it must be set down to the abuse of the drug, and not its use. As one denies that excess in the use of opium is deleterious, and so is excess of whiskey, or of champague, or of roast goose, or of boiled turkey, or in fact, of anything which may be received in any manner into the human system. Too much milk given to a baby makes it sick, and too much turtle soup, swallowed by an alderman, makes him bilious or something worse. But as with 22 turtle soap, or milk, or turkey, or goose, they are all very good things in moderation." Another quotation from the same authority

This vessel is similar to the Manilena, which was completed in October last; but from the experience gained in the construction the latter, many improvements have been introduced in the new boat. The Mindore is built on finer lines, which will give her an increased rate of speed and also materially improve her appearance. Another improvement is that the is fitted with a raised quarter deck, which provides more spacious and better ventilated cabin accommodation. The principal dimensions are :- Length between perpendiculars, 100 feet; extreme breadth, 16 feet 3 inohes; depth moulded 7 feet 8 inches. The Consular Court, Shanghai, was superintending the clearing out of some drawers at the Consulate, when a fuse was discovered. Thoughtless of the consequences, and not knowing the dangerous character of the article found, Mr. Shufeldt, holding it in his right hand, applied a match to the fuse, which burnt for a few seconds, emitting large sparks. Mr. Emens, the Interpreter at the Consulate, advised Mr. Shufeldt to throw it down, but before the request was complied with, the fuse exploded with a loud report, shattering the thumb and fore-finger of Mr. Shufeldt's right hand severely. He was at once taken to the Public Hospital. where Doctors Little and Zedelius examined his injuries, and we regret to learn that they deemed amputation of the thumb and finger necessary. and the operation was at once performed.
